Work on new hotel to start in spring

WORK on a new 60-bed-room Travelodge in Cannock creating 100 jobs will start in the spring.

The hotel at Gallan Park, off Watling Street is part of an expansion by the chain that will see 41 more hotels opened this year creating a total of 1,000 jobs.

News of work starting came as it emerged new joint letting agents had been appointed for the prime business and industrial park.

Paul Garry, director of Birmingham-based Gallan Developments, said the former Marley Tiles factory which occupied the site had been demolished and the site, which fronts on to the A5, was now ready for new developments.

Interest

Construction of the hotel is due to begin in the second quarter of 2012.

"We are looking to attract offices and leisure operators. With the first phase completed it is attracting a lot of interest," Mr Garry said. Lambert Smith Hampton and Jones Lang LaSalle have been appointed as letting agents and will market the rest of the site.

Cannock Chase Council planning committee chairman Councillor John Kraujalis said the developments and jobs were a "win win situation" for Bridgton and the wider community.

Mine statue views sought

BURNTWOOD residents are being asked where a new pit pony and miner sculpture should be placed.

The life-sized bronze sculpture, is to become a reality as part of the Sankey's Corner Arts Miner Project (SCAMP). The group has helped raise £10,000.

Burntwood Library will host a consultation event next Tuesday (January 17) between 11am and 7pm. Email rsb26@btinternet.com for more.

FEES RISE JUST NOT FARE – BUS USERS

By Tim Spiers

BUS users including a woman who needs to travel with her teenage son to hospital have complained about "extortionate" price rises on services from Cheslyn Hay.

New tariffs introduced by Arriva include a 22 per cent increase in the price of a single fare, from £1.80 to £2.20, while an all-day group saver ticket costs £12.

When one customer phoned Arriva to criticise the new fares, she was told that her complaint would not be logged as staff had been advised to say there was nothing they could do about it. Linda Ashfield regularly travels from her home in Cheslyn Hay to Cannock.

She said she was shocked that she could not register her concerns about the fare increases.

Arriva does not have a dedicated complaints department, but on calling the customers services number a message says the line is for comments and general enquiries.

"I called to complain about the new fares but was informed that there was no point in them even taking my name," Mrs Ashfield said. "She wouldn't even log it as a complaint as they had been told there was nothing they could do about the price changes." Mrs Ashfield only travels by bus in the morning as she gets a lift home from work, but used to purchase a 10-trip ticket for £15. That option has been discontinued, so she now has to buy separate single tickets every day, working out as £22 per every 10 trips.

Inconvenience

"Prices have rocketed since Travel West Midlands stopped running their services last year because there is no competition now," Mrs Ashfield said. "Above all I couldn't even make a complaint about it."

Arriva Midlands spokesman Keith Myatt said: "I can only apologise for that inconvenience."

Another regular Cheslyn Hay bus user, Mary Farr, described the new prices as 'extortionate'.

Every few weeks she takes her son Jordan, a pupil at Cheslyn Hay Sport & Community High School, to New Cross Hospital.

"I paid £8 for a family ticket last year but this time it cost me £12 for a group saver," she said. "Single fares for Travel West Midlands have only gone up from £1.80 to £1.90 so why are Arriva's prices so extortionate? They want us to use public transport but people will be put off."

Mr Myatt said buying an adult day saver and a child day saver, costing £6 and £4 respectively, would be more suitable.

Wii love being at the controls

Residents Lyn Buckley and Thomas Blunt having a go with the new Wii games console with staff Megan Iwanowa, left and Lisa Hughes at The Grange nursing home

WIMBLEDON may be six months away but residents at a Hedgesford care home are already perfecting their services thanks to a new computer games console.

The Grange, in Cannock Wood Street, recently bought a Wii console for its residents after acquiring funds through fundraising.

And the Wii Sports game, which includes tennis, bowling and golf, is proving to be a big hit. Lisa Hughes, activities coordinator at the home, said it was great to see the residents being so active.

"You can do it standing up or sitting down but it's been fun watching them have a go and it's been getting quite competitive."

"It's beneficial in more ways than one and all the staff get involved too."

Works in road lead to trade concerns

MOTORISTS are facing almost five months of misery when Chasetown High Street is ripped up for the second time in months, it has been claimed.

The road will be disrupted for major sewer and cable replacement works from the end of the month. Severn Trent and National Grid are running the schemes at the same time.

Burntwood councillor Paul Atkins said he feared for the future of some businesses who were already struggling in the tough economic climate.

"This is just going to add to their trading difficulties," he said. "I understand the works are going to last for 20 weeks, which is an awfully long time for people to be disrupted like this."

Implications

"I appreciate the work has to be done, but there has got to be some sort of compensation for shopkeepers."

A separate roadworks scheme finished in October. Councillor Atkins added the repeated roadworks could have long-term implications for the high street.

"These works are obviously affecting the viability of the shops because it's obviously putting people off going there," he said.

Severn Trent and National Grid are expected to release a statement in the next few days.

Shopkeeper 'no heroine'

A PENKRIDGE shopkeeper has told how she fended off an armed robber after grabbing a mop and chasing him from the store.

Ben Chambers, aged 20, faces jail after being convicted of attempted robbery and possessing an imitation firearm with intent to commit robbery.

Murti Mall, of the Pop-In Pantry, in Cannock Road, spoke of the ordeal, but denied she was a heroine.

Footballer jailed for kicking player

A FOOTBALLER who kicked an opponent in the face while he was lying on the ground during a game in Chasetown has been jailed for 20 months.

Father-of-two Craig Barr launched the attack on James Sorrell during a six-a-side game as one of his sons watched from the sidelines. The victim suffered a fractured cheekbone and eye socket, Stafford crown court heard. Self-employed plumber Barr, aged 26, of Coppice Road, Walsall Wood, admitted causing grievous bodily harm.

Recorder Miss Rachel Brand QC told him: "It gives me no pleasure to send a normally decent man to prison. The fact is, you went up to a young man who was lying on the ground and you kicked him in the head."

Mr Pat Sullivan, prosecuting, said Barr had just been sent off for a tackle which badly injured another player during a game on August 4.

The game was stopped while an ambulance was called. Mr Sorrell was lying down at the side of the pitch and words were exchanged. Barr then walked up to him and kicked him in the face with "a hammer kick", said Mr Sullivan.

Barr was stopped from leaving the pitch and police were called. He said he had been called names after his tackle and kicked out, but did not intend to cause the injuries.

Mr Sorrell underwent a three-hour operation.

Mr Michael Grey, defending, said Barr had been playing football for some time and there had been no previous problems.

"The whole pressure of the incident, the presence of his son, the abuse being directed at him - in his own words he 'lost it'."

Injured soldier's ski camp challenge

A FORMER serviceman from Cannock who lost both his legs in conflict has jetted off to America for a mono-ski training camp.

Clive Smith, aged 26, is one of six injured ex-servicemen to have made the trip to Colorado with Armed Forces charity BLESMA (The British Limbless Ex-Servicemen's Association).

US charity CAMO (Challenge Aspen Military Opportunities) has organised the event which has been designed to give soldiers skill-based mono-ski training from beginner level to advanced.

BLESMA has been helping serving and retired servicemen and women and their families for more than 75 years.

Rehabilitation officer Rob Copsey said he valued such activities as a way to move forward from injury and inspire brave injured servicemen.

Jerome Church, general secretary of BLESMA added: "Events of this nature are of great importance to the rehabilitation of our members."

"We strive to prove that no challenge is beyond their capabilities."

Ex-miners in reunion

ORGANISERS of a former miners' reunion hailed the event as a big success.

More than 60 people attended the event at Church Hill Vic Working Men's Club in Hedgesford.

The tradition began 37 years ago when electricians at West Cannock No 5 Colliery met up to play games such as dominoes and pool.

A buffet and a raffle took place this year, with ex-miners travelling from Brownhills, Walsall Wood, Featherstone and Rugeley.

To be put on the list for next year's reunion, call 01543 899009.

Friends' appeal

Child star Ben happy to 'give back' to hospital

A CHILD star from Cannock gave a little back to the hospital which saved his life as he wowed young patients.

Ben Wilby, from Bishop Close, took a break from his latest film project Nativity 2 to appear at a special Hollywood 1940s themed party organised by Birmingham Children's Hospital.

Ben, aged nine, was special guest at the party for 120 young patients held last Sunday (January 8) at the city's Centennial Centre.

The annual event was organised by the hospital to give young patients an unforgettable day.

The charismatic young performer signed autographs for the children and then wowed the audience as he danced with his 10-year-old dance partner Sophie Moseley.

He also dished out Nativity! merchandise including DVDs and T-Shirts which had been supplied by bosses behind the hit film.

Ben is currently filming with former Doctor Who star David Tennant in Nativity 2: The Second Grotto.

Grotto

His mother Jill, who also attended the event with Ben's father Nigel, said: "It was a fantastic day. Ben was so delighted to be asked to go there as he wanted to give something back to Birmingham Children's Hospital."

"The party was absolutely tremendous. All of the children were dressed up in themed 1940s Hollywood film clothing and there was a red carpet and VIP area. The children were also led into another room where there was a Santa's grotto. It was a day that will stay long in the memory for all of us."

Ben won the hearts of the nation when he played the part of Bob in the hit 2009 film The Nativity!, co-starring Martin Freeman and Alan Carr.

The St Mary's Primary School pupil was treated for craniofacial condition, cranial synostosis. He had to receive a lifesaving nine hour operation to relieve pressure on his brain at the age of two.

Doctors told his parents Jill and Nigel he might never talk or even walk, but he has gone on to win a string of dance competitions. He has also starred in countless adverts and is a regular on ITV's This Morning.

Shopkeeper tells of raid ordeal

A SHOPKEEPER has told how she fended off an armed robber after grabbing a mop and chasing him from her Penkridge store on the "spur of the moment".

When gun-wielding masked raider Ben Chambers told Murti Mall to hand over the takings after bursting into Pop-In Pantry in Cannock Road, she first tried to rip his balaclava off then chased him out of the shop clutching her mop. The grandmother-of-three stopped only after he fired a shot in her direction.

Chambers was found guilty of the attack, but Mrs Mall said she did not consider herself a heroine.

The 58 year-old said a buzzer made her aware someone had entered the shop but could not see the attacker until he leaped out.

"This chap just jumped out from behind the freezers. He had a gun in one hand and a bag in the other. He said give me the money, pushing the bag towards me."

"It was an immediate reaction. I was trying to rip his balaclava off his head to see who I was dealing with."

"Then he ran back towards the door.

The mop was there and I just wanted something to hit him with. I was just one of those spur of the moment things."

On Tuesday, Chambers was convicted at Stafford crown court of attempted robbery and possessing an imitation firearm with intent to commit robbery.

Chambers' DNA was found on a bag he dropped as he fled and the balaclava later found at his home.

The 20-year-old, of Old Coach Road, Bishopwood was bailed for reports but warned he faced jail.

Drive-through will scupper town trade, say protesters

OBJECTORS claim a drive-through McDonald's in Rugeley will rip apart plans to breathe new life into the town. Members of a local history group are opposed to the restaurant.

By Marion Brennan

The members of the Landor Society say they fear the fast food outlet on the edge of Rugeley will take away vital trade from the town, which relies on its own restaurants and cafes to bring in business.

They describe the proposed 85-seat eatery as "exceptionally large" and, as a result, would have a significant effect on the vitality of Rugeley town centre.

In a letter of objection to Cannock Chase Council, the Landor Society says: "The town centre is already heavily reliant on restaurants and cafes for helping to attract and retain visitors to the town, where it is clear from the number of shop closures and changes to non-retail uses, that many businesses are trading on the edge of viability."

Refused

Members say the proposal puts under threat the draft Rugeley town area action plan aimed at regenerating the town centre.

McDonald's wants to build the drive-through on derelict land off the A51 roundabout on Power Station Road.

It is also seeking permission for an outside seating area and car park at the location, part of Towers Business Park on the former Lea Hall Colliery site.

Council officers have recommended approval of the scheme but Cannock Chase councillors were yesterday (Wednesday) due to visit the site before making a decision.

Planning officer John Heminsley said the application did not contain any information on traffic generation or its effect on the nearby roundabouts.

He also said insufficient consideration had been given to encouraging staff or customers to travel by bus, train or bike and no justification had been given for the size of parking provision. Staffordshire County Council wants permission refused on highways issues, but the Highways Agency has raised no objections.

If the scheme goes ahead, the Landor Society wants consideration given to requiring McDonald's to make a financial contribution towards improving a canal towpath

Pam Woodburn from Lawnswood Avenue, Chasetown who is researching family profiles of soldiers who served in The Great War from the Burntwood area.

Extra help appeal on research

MEMBERS of a family history society have marked the first anniversary of a new project by appealing for more volunteers to help them in their research.

Burntwood Family History Group reached its 25th anniversary last year and as part of its celebrations a venture was launched to research servicemen from Burntwood who died during the First World War.

Fourteen researchers currently work independently for the group and vice-chairman Pam Woodburn said more were always welcome.

"We are always happy to hear from people whose family members have been recorded and who would like us to undertake research for them. There is no charge for this research."

"The project has gone really well this year — people are speaking very highly of it. We have 14 researchers and we're hoping to recruit more."

Profiles of several Burntwood soldiers who lost their lives in the First World War are already available to view on the group's website, www.bfhg.org.uk

Long term, it is hoped that as many of the servicemen named on memorials in Burntwood, in particular those at Chasetown Memorial Park, will have a mini biography compiled about them.

Murder charge remand

TWO men have been charged with the murder of a businessman.

Darryl Dickens, aged 33, and David Harrison, 62, both from Bilston, were at Stafford Crown Court on Monday afternoon (January 9).

They are accused of killing Richard Deakin, 27, at his home in Meadow Street, Chasetown in 2010. Both were remanded in custody until March 23, when they are due to enter pleas. Mr Deakin ran a Walsall skip hire firm.

THE Commission on Assisted Dying recommends that assisted suicide should be available for patients diagnosed with less than 12 months to live.

So it might be worth recalling the case of Harold Macmillan who, 55 years ago this week, became prime minister. He served until October 1963 when he resigned, having been diagnosed with inoperable prostate cancer. Under the criteria suggested by the Commission on Assisted Dying, Macmillan might have qualified for assisted suicide.

Happily, the doctors had got the diagnosis wrong. Supermac lived until he was 92 years and 322 days, which at the time was the greatest age attained by any British Prime Minister.

You think the art of the prognosis has improved greatly since 1963? Think again. Thirty months after he was given three months to live, the Lockerbie bomber Abdel-baset al-Megrahi is still with us.

IN HER report on relationships between police and journalists, Dame Elizabeth Filkin suggests forces should appoint public-information and integrity champions.

The employment world is full of champions. A quick trawl of the employment ads produces these job titles:

- Lean Champion = value-for-money buff.
- Digital champion = helps people get online.
- Dignity Champion Facilitator = social worker's gofer.

If Dame Elizabeth's aim is to stop cops and hacks boozing together, she will probably succeed. I can't imagine that having a pint with the constabulary integrity champion would be a barrel of laughs.

'Twenty is plenty' limits extended

A 20mph speed limit is being imposed at 14 more schools in Staffordshire, including in Cannock and Chasetown.

Highways bosses at the county council have announced plans to extend their '20 is Plenty' school road safety scheme, which has so far been introduced outside 66 schools.

Restrictions will now be introduced at Cardinal Griffin RC High School, off the busy A34 Stafford Road in Cannock and St Joseph's and St Theresa's in High Street, Chasetown.

Highways chief Mike Maryon said: "The '20 is Plenty' campaign has proved to be incredibly successful since it was launched more than a year ago.

"Thousands of children have benefited from this first-class scheme and I am determined that many more will do so in future." Cardinal Griffin headteacher Michael Burrows welcomed the move.

He said: "We have been blessed not to have a fatal accident outside the Cardinal Griffin."

The part-time 20mph limit, will be introduced this spring and will be in operation during school-run hours. Traffic will be unaffected outside those hours and in school holidays.

Charges brought over school asbestos scare

CHARGES have been brought against Staffordshire County Council after dangerous asbestos fibres were released into a school in Cheslyn Hay.

The alert, at Glenthorne Primary, was believed to have been sparked when contractors dismantling a cupboard accidentally disturbed the fibres.

The school was shut for four months as a result, costing taxpayers £246,000. Other parts of the building were also affected.

Staff and some 178 pupils were sent home on February 13, 2009. The school remained closed until June of that year.

The authority had been due to answer health and safety charges at Cannock Magistrates Court last Wednesday (January 4) but the case was adjourned as lawyers were not ready to proceed. A new date is yet to be fixed.

Both the county council and Health and Safety Executive launched probes but the Staffordshire authority subsequently became part of the HSE's investigation.

Disturbed

Charges have also been brought against Rugeley building firm G.Evans (Services), and workmen Franklin Walters, aged 61, of Constable Drive, Littleover, Derby and Christopher Keeling, aged 26, of Stone Road, Stafford.

It is believed the builders, who had been working at the school for four months, disturbed asbestos board which was used as thermal insulation in the building trade between the 1950s and the early 80s.

Parents were assured there was only "limited risk" to the children's health. A helpline was also set up.

Some pupils joined classes at Cheslyn Hay Primary School while others were taken daily by bus to Boney Hay Primary in Burntwood, more than seven miles away.

A PENKCRIDGE school which is pioneering dual headteachers is celebrating a glowing Ofsted report.

Sue O'Neill and Dawn Spiers have been running Marshbrook First School, in Teddesley Road, since the latter returned from maternity leave in September.

And they were singled out for praise as inspectors delivered a 'good' with outstanding features' verdict on the school. In total

10 of 30 features were judged worthy of the top rating. They wrote: "The co-headteachers work exceptionally well as a team and their evaluation of school performance is very accurate."

"All the strengths identified during the previous inspection have been consolidated and several have improved to outstanding." Sue said: "We really pleased with the report."

Site visit ahead of housing decision

COUNCILLORS were yesterday (Wednesday) visiting the site of a pub car park before deciding whether it can be turned into luxury housing.

JM Homes Ltd wants to build nine two-bedroom homes on the parking area outside The Prince of Wales pub in Rugeley.

Members of Cannock Chase Council's planning control committee deferred a decision on the application in November because they wanted to take a look for themselves.

The scheme would reduce the number of parking spaces outside the pub from 56 to just nine.

The Solihull-based developers behind the scheme say the owners of the pub, in Sheep Fair, are happy to give up the car park spaces as they already have more than they need. The firm said the decision had been reached after a decline in trade at the pub.

The homes will have one car parking space per house.

The developer also states: "Pubs should offer no more than one parking space per 54sq ft. On this basis the pub should offer no more than 15 spaces."

Night-time pharmacist

HEALTH chiefs in Cannock are writing to the local trust about out-of-hours pharmacy services.

They say many patients are unaware that the town has a late-night chemist at Sainsbury's supermarket at the Orbital Centre.

The pharmacy is open more than 100 hours a week, from 7am to 11pm Monday to Friday, 7am to 10pm on Saturdays and 10am to 4pm on Sundays.

Councillor Muriel Davis, cabinet member for health on Cannock Chase Council, said many people were unaware of the facilities.

Talk on moths

THE next Cannock Group of the Staffordshire Wildlife Trust event is an illustrated talk on 'Butterflies & Moths'. It takes place on Wednesday, January 18, at St Luke's Church Centre, Cannock at 7.30pm. Admission is £1.50, including refreshments.

Funding boost for park site

THE Friends of Hednesford Park have welcomed a funding boost for a project to transform the site.

Cannock Chase Council has been awarded £71,600 to put together a bid for more cash to breathe new life into the park. If the bid is successful £3.7m will be pumped into the project.

Lynn Evans, chairman of the Friends of Hednesford Park, said: "We're right behind the council in its attempts to redevelop the park."

A redesigned pavilion will form the focal point of the scheme while new play facilities and restoration work will also be carried out. Paths would be improved to make half the park accessible, tennis courts refurbished and trees planted.

Pitches

Improved drainage for the park's football pitches is needed as well as new signs.

Residents' memories of the park will heavily influence the development. Council bosses will use some of the sum, granted to stage consultation events where the park's past will be pieced together.

Council bosses hope to secure £2m towards the investment and detailed plans will be submitted to the Heritage Lottery Fund.

Charge over Colly abuse

A 21-YEAR-OLD man has been charged with racially abusing footballer turned pundit Stan Collymore on website Twitter.

Joshua Cryer, of Jesmond, in Newcastle, will appear before magistrates in the city on January 23.

He has been charged with a racial public order offence and a public order offence. Northumbria Police began an investigation after being contacted by the Staffordshire force.

Former Villa and Liverpool star Collymore, aged 40, lived in Cannock and won three England caps.

Motorbike theft

A DISTINCTIVE off-road motorbike was stolen from a Cannock industrial estate.

The red Honda CRF 250, worth around £2,500, was taken from Mill Park industrial estate, Hawks Green Lane, between 3pm on January 2 and 7am the following day.

Witnesses should call Staffordshire Police on 101.

Councillor Val Richards and staff celebrate 10 years of Burntwood Leisure Centre

Free sports to celebrate centre's 10 years

VISITORS to Burntwood Leisure Centre can enjoy a host of free activities next weekend as the venue marks its 10th anniversary.

The venue in High Street, Chasetown, first opened its doors on January 21, 2002. To mark the milestone - and to showcase a range of classes and facilities the leisure centre offers - the team is inviting everyone to an open day next Saturday from 9am to 5pm.

Free use of badminton and squash courts will be available, together with swimming, and aerobic classes, as well as free admission to Inspire gym for pay-as-you-go members. Sports clubs will be on hand to offer demonstrations and free trials, and there will be special membership deals available to anyone who signs up to become a member on the day.

Councillor Val Richards, Lichfield District Council's Cabinet Member for Leisure Services, said: "We hope lots of people come along and help us celebrate 10 fantastic years of helping people to keep fit and have fun."

"There will be lots of fun activities for the whole family to enjoy, so do come along and enjoy the party."

Leisure centre manager Paul Watson said: "The last 10 years have flown by, and it's been a pleasure to see how the leisure centre has grown over that time.

"The open day will be an opportunity to thank our members and a great way to show first-time visitors what we have got to offer."

As part of the open day, the leisure centre will be thanking their most loyal members who have used the centre the most since it opened with a £50 voucher and a bottle of champagne.

For more information about the birthday celebrations, call the Burntwood Leisure Centre's reception on 01543 308810. To see a programme for the day visit www.lichfieldcc.gov.uk/blc10

Decision on fate of play area to follow site visit

THE fate of a controversial Heath Hayes play area was to be decided this week. Residents say the site, between Pheasant Way and Peregrine Way, is blighted by anti-social antics.

Pub jobs are still available

MORE than 40 people turned up to a recruitment day at a Great Wyrley pub where 15 jobs are available.

The Wheatsheaf in Wall-sall Road is to undergo a £300,000 makeover this month and is reopening following the revamp on January 27.

Jobs are available in the bar and kitchen. Most positions have been filled but the pub is still seeking three or four new kitchen staff. Cleaners have been hired and a new full time deputy manager will be joining up.

The transformation into a John Barras pub will include redecorating, new kitchen equipment and installing Sky HD.

All 10 current staff will be kept on and current tenant Julie Daines has been employed as general manager. After five months as a tenant, more than 500 people signed a petition which eventually led to her being offered the role.

She said: "We had an overwhelming response to our recruitment day and the calibre of applicants has been extremely high. But we are still on the look out for ambitious, proactive and experienced people for the kitchen team."

Members of Cannock Chase Council's planning committee were set to rule on the site following a site visit yesterday (Wednesday).

There have been scores of claims of anti-social behaviour regarding the site, at the heart of the Park Farm residential estate.

Persimmon Homes has now applied for retrospective planning permission.

Documents prepared for councillors considering the application state there is scant evidence for the complaints.

"There have been a total of 24 incidents of anti-social behaviour since May 2011," a report to the meeting states.

"These complaints are primarily about the children playing in the play area, being loud and kicking the ball against the fence. This is not anti-social behaviour and the residents have been informed of this."

Alcohol

Other complaints include stone-throwing, youths drinking alcohol and graffiti.

But the report says: "On occasions when the police have arrived they have not witnessed anyone carrying out these acts."

One youth was caught with a graffiti can and was made to remove it, however.

Officers defended the play area's location at the centre of the estate and were recommending approval.

Cannock Chase District Council has received 33 letters of objection amid claims it attracts trouble and affects property values.

Art display is museum's first of 2012

David Brown next to his portrait of a local miner, at his exhibition Heavenly Spires and Headframes, at the Museum of Cannock Chase. He is giving the painting away to anyone who recognises the subject ACCOMPLISHED Burntwood artist David Brown has put his work on show at the Museum of Cannock Chase. Heavenly Spires and Headframes is the title of the venue's first 2012 exhibition, which runs until February 24.

In a range of work spanning 40 years, David has undertaken a wide range of artistic commissions featuring pets, people and places. He is best known for his work as a portraitist and as a painter of animals.

This latest exhibition explores the contrasting landscapes of the Cannock and Lichfield areas and features a series of paintings which explore the impact of the communities on the life and landscape of South Staffordshire.

These range from the mining community of Cannock Chase during the 19th and 20th centuries to the cathedral city of Lichfield.

The exhibition takes as its central theme the landscapes of the 'heavenly spires' of Lichfield and the headframes of the collieries of Cannock Chase but also seeks to show how different life was in the two communities.

The artist's pictures include people at work and play, contrasting the theological and rural life in and around Lichfield with the mining and forestry activities of Cannock Chase. One individual portrait of a miner is based on an old photograph and the artist is keen to hear from anyone who can put a name to the face of the pitman in question.

He has offered the portrait free of charge to anyone who can accurately identify the subject.

The Museum of Cannock Chase, in Valley Road, Hednesford, is open from Monday to Friday from 11am to 4pm with last admission at 3.30pm. Admission is free. For more details, call the museum on 01543 877666 or log onto www.cannockchasedc.gov.uk/museum

Asda confident of deal in council cash wrangle

SUPERMARKET chain Asda claims a bitter dispute with the council over a £500,000 payment will be resolved 'soon'.

More than £500,000 was paid by the superstore to Cannock Chase District Council as part of the conditions attached to building its 24-hour store in Avon Road. The store opened in November 2005.

The money was originally intended for an artificial sports pitch at the old Cannock Stadium in Pye Green Road. But since the stadium was demolished back in 2009, Asda has been trying to claim the cash back.

Council leader George Adamson previously warned of court action. He said he had "no idea" when the dispute would be concluded, but Asda said it was confident a deal could be reached.

Asda property communications manager Oliver Jones said: "We're currently in constructive negotiations to resolve this issue and expect a final decision soon."

The £562,000 sum - which has earned an extra £100,000 in interest since it was received - was paid by Asda when the store was built as part of a planning agreement.

According to the conditions, the council should have spent the money by May last year. Asda was initially willing to extend the time limit, but now says the agreement is void because of the stadium's demolition.

Councillor Adamson said the authority now wanted to use the money for a similar project next to Cardinal Griffin RC High School, off Stafford Road.

Ice skaters set to rink in the changes

Carys Kelsey, aged six, with fellow Cannock School of Skating club members

SKATING rinks are bracing themselves for a surge in customers following the start of the new series of Dancing On Ice.

Silver Blades Ice Rink in Cannock said it traditionally saw an increase as people were inspired by the ITV show.

The International School of Skating in Cannock held taster sessions at the rink in Cannock last weekend and regularly train at the Walkmill Lane venue. Coaches say they are expecting the number of people stepping on to the ice to increase.

Natasha Fennell-Owen, aged 32, of Telford, said: "Normally when Dancing on Ice starts, we get an influx of people who want to give it a go. We do figure skating so it focuses on the jumps and the spins."

Bid to boost town lotto

THE organisers behind Cannock's failing lottery are to rebrand the scheme rather than scrap it.

During the run-up to Christmas, residents were being urged to support the local lottery to ensure it survived.

Natal Chapman, who runs Cannock Shopping Centre and oversees the lottery initiative, where people buy a £1 ticket to enter the monthly draw, warned it would be scrapped if not enough traders got behind it.

A rallying call was sent out by the organisers of the Cannock Town Lotto telling shoppers and retailers in the town to "use it or lose it", with money made from the initiative needed to fund the Christmas festivities.

The dwindling initiative divides a cash pot 50-50 between one lucky winner and community projects.

In August, the scheme only brought in £178, leaving a prize worth £89 and only £19 left for the community cash pot once the overheads, which include printing the tickets, were taken into consideration.

Hundreds

Mrs Chapman, chairman of Cannock Traders Association, says she is at a loss as to why the scheme has not taken off like the lottery scheme in Rugeley, which can bring in hundreds of pounds each month. Now she has organised a meeting for traders to see what can be done to boost the lottery.

She said: "We are looking at doing it bi-monthly, so if we purchase 1,000 tickets we will have more time to shift them. It gives us an extra month to sell the full quantity."

A meeting has been arranged for Monday, January 23 at The Premier Suite, in High Green, where Mrs Chapman will be asking traders for support and ideas.

Another suggestion is to get a different charity involved each month to help with the promotion of the scheme.

Everyone deserves a second chance

I WOULD like to express my outrage at the hypocrisy of the media, politicians and those in political life, particularly the leader of the Cannock Chase Council.

They all seem to be baying for blood. Have they not got anything more important to do than to incur the district with additional cost for a by-election? This in my opinion would be a waste of time.

I am upset with our MP's behaviour and his lack of judgment, but I do not believe he would condone the behaviour of events that occurred before he was born.

I agree this was a serious error of judgment on his part, and with hindsight I think he would not have gone to such a party. But I do see this as Labour's underhand tactics to remove him.

I have nothing but praise for Mr Burley and I believe everyone deserves a second chance.

Partnership secures leisure service future

IN RESPONSE to Mr Peaty (Letters, December 30) regarding the partnership between Cannock Chase Council and Wigan Leisure and Culture Trust (WLCT) for the management of leisure and cultural facilities in the district.

The council currently spends around £1.9m a year on subsidising its leisure services and has been notified of a 28 per cent reduction in the level of its government grant. As there is no legal requirement for councils to provide leisure services these are at a higher risk of budget reductions. The initial contract is for 10 years with an option to extend for a further two five-year periods. A minimum £540,000 reduction in the leisure subsidy has been achieved and there is a contractual commitment for WLCT to invest £2m over 10 years.

Rather than redundancies, it is planned that additional staff will be recruited for the new fitness suite at Chase Leisure. The two leisure centres, museum and theatre buildings remain in council ownership and are leased to WLCT for the contract period. WLCT is a registered company and a not-for-profit charitable organisation which can reclaim most of the £200,000 per annum business rates paid by the council on leisure facilities.

The council is required to undertake public consultation on its annual budget and the option to secure a partner for leisure services was consulted upon as part of this process. The partnership with WLCT secures the long-term future of our leisure and cultural services in an affordable way that brings additional expertise and investment.

Belated apology by our MP not enough

IT is difficult to defend the indefensible but in a letter published in The Chronicle on December 30, a Mrs Round did.

Sadly, she got her facts wrong. Mr Burley did not resign as a PPS, he was sacked because of his offensive behaviour. Also, he was not at a fancy dress party, but a Nazi-themed stag party in a country where it is a criminal offence to wear or display Nazi insignia.

Recently the BBC asked local Tory MPs and councillors what they thought about our MP's behaviour and not one of them would comment. The French authorities are now investigating and criminal charges may be brought.

Mr Burley has brought shame on himself and on Cannock Chase by his disgraceful and ill-judged behaviour. He did, belatedly, apologise, but that is not enough. The best thing that he can do for Cannock Chase is to resign and let us elect someone, from whichever Party, to represent us in a dignified way like our former MP Tony Wright did.

Antics in bad taste

I HAVE been listening to the TV and reading in your paper about the incident involving MP Aidan Burley and his friends at the stag event.

I think it was irresponsible and in bad taste. He says the media has put him through hell, but hasn't gone through half the hall the Nazis put people through during the War, especially the French.

I think he should apologise properly and do the honourable thing and resign while he still can.

Taken for granted promise is broken

ON his website, my local Member of Parliament Aidan Burley says, "As your MP I make you one promise: I will never take you, or your vote, for granted."

Well, as a long-time resident of Rugeley who has always found the Cannock Chase area a great place to live, Mr Burley has broken his promise; he has taken me for granted.

I'm afraid the mere apology he made for his grotesque, Nazi-themed antics in France is simply not good enough. We deserve better. The Government has already decided Mr Burley is no longer fit to continue as Parliamentary Private Secretary for Transport, so why on earth should the people of Cannock Chase have to suffer him as our representative?

A LOVELL
Rugeley

Profile raised by a breath of fresh air

I SEE from your letters page that all the usual suspects seek to gain political advantage by castigating Aidan Burley for his attendance at a private party where some guests dressed as Nazi officers. Yes it was foolish and an error of judgement which Mr Burley will not be allowed to forget.

He has lost his Government role and damaged the reputation he has worked so hard to establish. But he has apologised and he must now learn from this experience and get on with the job of representing Cannock Chase.

Aidan Burley was elected as a breath of fresh air and has worked tirelessly to raise the profile of the district.

Fire! burning to reform

Jonny Harris, Tony Chester and Graham Lightfoot are firing again after 15 years

A ROCK trio is returning to the stage with a gig in Cannock after an absence of 15 years.

Jonny Harris, Tony Chester and Graham Lightfoot last performed as Fire! in the mid-1990s but have reformed and have been rehearsing ahead of their gig at the Stumble Inn in Walsall Road, Bridgtown, on January 28. Tony, from Chads Moor, is relishing the rebirth of the band. He said: "We can't wait to get back playing live again."

"My wife got me interested again when she got me some new equipment. I gave Jonny a call, he asked Graham and they said 'Yes, let's have a go'."

Graham hails from Hednesford while Jonny is from Walsall.

A GIPSY site in Hatherton which was denied an extension by a Government planning inspector could now be reduced in size.

South Staffs District Council could take enforcement action against the landowner of High House Lane, just off Poplar Lane. Six caravans are sitting on the land in its owner, Ethal Lee, had wanted to expand the site to cater for 14 caravans. This was refused permission.

It followed a lengthy wrangle with the district council and a subsequent appeal to the inspector.

Council bosses have now said they are considering "enforcement action" after revealing the site only has permission for four caravans.

Two of the current six could face eviction, although council spokesman Jamie Angus stressed they would be given every chance to move themselves before notices were served.

He confirmed: "We are now considering formal enforcement action to remove the unauthorised caravans."

Councillor David Williams, ward member for Huntington and Hatherton, welcomed the authority's stance.

He said: "You can't make an exception and leave the extra two caravans on the site. If people are going to apply for planning permission they should do it before they start bringing more caravans on."

The site was given planning permission for four caravans in the 1980s. The council refused proposals to extend the site to 14 caravans last February and that decision was backed by the Government's planning inspector on appeal.

Celebrating Burns Night

CANNOCK Lions Club is hosting a Burns night celebration on January 22. Just a handful of tickets remain for the event at The Chase Golf Club, Pottal Pool. Festivities will include the Band of the Black Watch Association (Stoke). The Lions' Beverly Stanyer, said: "Last year it was fabulous."

Past and present are depicted in calendar

VILLAGERS can reminisce about years gone by with a calendar put together by historians.

The 2012 Bridgtown Past and Present calendar, compiled by Bridgtown & District Local History Society, compares old and new images of different areas around the parish.

These include The White Lion Hotel, Longford crossroads, Carmel Methodist Church, Gilpin's Churchbridge Works, North Street and Cross Street.

The Mid-Cannock Colliery, St Pau's Church, Watling Street, the Star & Garter pub, Wynn's Corner and Park Street Chapel are also depicted.

Some images date as far back as the early 1900s while the calendar also details when this year's history society meetings will take place,

MEMORY LANE
by Tim Spiers

with the first on January 18. Society member David Williams helped compile the calendar.

He said: "This calendar has been prepared to compare how the village looked years ago with how it looks today."

"For each month there is a set of photographs showing a landmark place in the village, or in the surrounding area."

"On each page there is also one photograph taken recently, so that comparisons can be made."

Bridgtown first came to being in 1861 and its rich history is being brought to life by the society, which formed in 2009 to unearth old photographs, books, memorabilia, data, maps and details of village life. In October chairman Tony Pearson led celebrations of the village's 150th anniversary, when a booklet charting a century and a half of history was released.

Mr Williams added: "Almost all of this team of enthusiasts are former residents keen to record the people, lifestyles and events of former years."

"The society has grown rapidly, with founder members genuinely surprised at the overwhelming response from former residents."

"Well over one hundred members now meet regularly at Bridgtown Community Centre to be reminded of the old days."

"At the same time many current residents know little about times gone by and wish to know more."

Society meetings take place once a month. Visit www.bridgtownhistory.co.uk for more details and on how to purchase a calendar.

Charity gifts plea

Assistant manager Emily Williams is promoting the British Heart Foundation's appeal

PEOPLE are being urged to make use of their unwanted Christmas gifts – by donating them to charity.

The British Heart Foundation store, in Market Place, Cannock, is promoting the charity's We Like the Gifts You Don't appeal.

Assistant shop manager Emily Williams says she wants people to consider donating their unwanted gifts instead of returning them to the shop they were bought from.

She said: "We are looking for anything which people might have had that they don't want, like toiletries or gift sets, pyjamas that don't fit, duplicate books or DVDs."

The Cannock branch does not accept furniture items, but the Walsall branch, in Old Square, does. Call the Cannock branch on 01543 505109 or the Walsall shop on 01922 645750.

Attempted con on bar owner 'like a spy book'

CANNOCK bar owner Dougie Wilkinson has told how he helped the police to collar a fraudster who tried to dupe him into selling his premises for 'black money'.

Mr Wilkinson, who owns the U Bar in Church Street, said being swept into the recent attempt by a Cameroon national to con him was "like out of a spy book."

The man contacted Mr Wilkinson to say he was interested in buying the bar for its £70,000 asking price.

But Mr Wilkinson became suspicious when he was told the man's father was a Nigerian diplomat and they would be bringing the black money – £20m – into the country before washing it. They invited him to have a 20 per cent cut in the plan.

Genuine

Mr Wilkinson said: "It was like out of a spy book. He asked if there was somewhere else we could go and he got out this piece of black paper."

"He then got some water and a chemical and started to shake it about and it transformed into a £50 note. It was a genuine one too."

"He said this is how the money would come into the country, but he would need a hand to wash it," he said.

Dougie Wilkinson

The 'black notes' scam involves the notes being washed in everyday chemicals, but the victim is told they are expensive and asked to give the fraudsters money to help them do this.

This is the last they see off their money.

Mr Wilkinson was asked by the fraud squad in December to help with the sting at the Ramada Hotel car park in Cannock.

The man was deported to Ireland as he held an Irish passport – and he was allowed to seek asylum.

Names appeal on 1940s photograph

The picture, dated 1947, believed to be of Huntington Bowls Club. Can any readers put names to the faces?

THIS old picture has been supplied by James Hooper, of Huntington, but mystery surrounds both its existence and the names of those featured.

James' wife Linda was given the snapshot some years ago and she came across it again while researching her family tree. It is dated June 1947 and is believed to be of Huntington Bowls Club. One of Linda's relatives is on the picture, but she doesn't know which one. Despite further inquiries, including to Cheslyn Hay & District Local History Society, no one else appears to be able name any of the players.

James is now asking Chronicle readers if they can shed any light on the picture. Anyone that can help or can recognise anyone on the picture, call the Chronicle on 01543 465304 or James on 578468.

Christmas trading slump

CHRISTMAS trading in Cannock slumped by nearly three per cent on 2010 figures despite the harsh winter of that year.

Natal Chapman, who runs Cannock Shopping Centre, says initial figures show a 2.8 per cent dip on the previous Christmas period, although footfall through the town went up by 27 per cent.

Mrs Chapman says she is optimistic, blaming the state of the nation's economy. She added: "Trading was down on the same period last year, but we have been up on the last five months.

"Based on last year we are down by 2.8 per cent, but we are up on the previous month by 3.1 per cent, and that month we saw an improvement on the previous one by 1.1 per cent."

Income

"Looking at week-by-week, at the week leading up to Christmas, commencing December 19, footfall was up by 27 per cent," Mrs Chapman said.

She added it was great to see an increase in people coming to the town, but said: "People are just browsing and not spending as much – people do not have such a high amount of disposable income."

Another factor affecting sales was the long and cold winter in 2010, according to Mrs Chapman.

She said: "I think people have been spending a bit early, not waiting for the last minute in case of the weather turning bad."

Growth leads to jobs joy

MORE than 20 new jobs will be created in Cannock thanks to a funding company's expansion plans.

Newlife Trading operates solely to generate income for the national charity Newlife Foundation for Disabled Children and is set to secure the lease on a 25,000 sq ft warehouse in Bridgtown.

The building will be used to increase storage space.

It will also open up a larger trading area within the Hemlock Way store and enable the expansion of Newlife's Opportunity Centre, which offers volunteering placements.

Newlife founder Sheila Brown OBE and her husband Colin launched Newlife Trading Ltd in 1993 to ensure long-term funding for the charity and the group employs 228 people.

Newlife Foundation's operations manager, Stephen Morgan, said: "More disabled and terminally ill children and their families need our help and we are determined to respond to as many as possible."

South Staffordshire Housing Association's Colin Spies, from Hednesford, with his employee of the year award

AN INSPIRATIONAL Hednesford man who battled the odds has been named 'Employer of the Year'.

Colin Spies recovered from throat cancer nine years ago and has since worked for South Staffordshire Housing Association (SSHA) in its income management team.

He took home the main prize from the Housing Plus annual Pride Awards having been nominated by Housing association tenant and former board member Eric Holmes.

which sees tenants and fellow staff He said: "Although he has an impaired voice from having throat cancer, Colin has a remarkable gift of listening to and communicating with everyone."

Mr Spies, a 57-year-old father-of-one was one of 22 nominations and said he was really shocked to have won.

He said: "Having struggled with my health I value the importance of helping other people.

"When I came to the organisation I was recovering from throat cancer. I've had a second chance and I'm pleased I can use that to help other people."

During his time at SSHA Mr Spies has helped residents claim up to £450,000 in benefit entitlements.

As part of his prize he was able to select the Housing Plus charity of the year and selected Cancer Research.

Sweet shop is still serving up a treat

SUGAR and spice and all things nice fill the shelves of an old-fashioned sweet shop that has been given a modern twist by its new owners. Sweet Memories in Cheslyn Hay has been expanded to cater for special events.

The business has been taken over by friends Jenny Sinclair and Emma Crowe who have expanded the business to cater for special occasions as well as over-the-counter sales.

The pair provide candy carts and sweet 'trees' for weddings, birthdays and other celebrations - choosing sweets to suit the theme.

Mother-of-two Jenny said: "It could be retro sweets, like liquorice sticks and pineapple rock, for example or maybe something for a youngster's party - they seem to like anything blue, especially sour bonbons."

She added: "It's something completely new and it seems to be going down really well. We've been overwhelmed by the interest shown."

Jenny, aged 36, met 37-year-old mother-of-three Emma five years ago at the gates of the town's Glen-thorne Primary, where their children go to school.

Their husbands, Lee and Neil, have helped transform the High Street shop, building new counters, shelves and cabinets before painting the confectionery haven - in candyfloss pink and mint green.

Jenny Sinclair and Emma Crowe roll out their traditional sweet cart at the new-look Sweet Memories shop, in High Street, Cheslyn Hay

Licensee raises a glass to pub of month award

Heart of Staffordshire Campaign for Real Ale branch chairman Neil Butler presents the trophy and certificate to Mike Walkenden (manager) and Lucy Dugmore (licensee) at the Horse & Jockey in Penkridge

A PENKRIDGE pub which dates back to the 18th century has been named Camra's pub of the month.

The Horse & Jockey has recently undergone a refurbishment and staff were delighted to pick up the award, handed out by Heart of Staffordshire Campaign for Real Ale.

The pub is one of the oldest in Penkridge and is named after the horses and their owners from the nearby Horse Fair. It dates back to 1750. It was owned in the mid-19th century by a wheelwright and maltster who brewed his own beer.

Lounge

Now a traditional real ale pub, the Horse & Jockey is run by licensee Lucy Dugmore, who took over in 2009, and manager Mike Walkenden.

Last year's refurbishment included a makeover of the lounge.

Mike Harker, secretary of the Heart of Staffordshire Campaign for Real Ale, praised the owners for taking real pride in their work.

"The refit has really increased the appeal of the pub, creating a nice friendly atmosphere and bringing in more locals," he said. "If you are after a pub with great atmosphere and wish to enjoy a lovely pint in front of the open fire, where JR Tolkien may have sat, then pop into the Horse & Jockey."

The pub also recently received full accreditation from ale purveyors Cask Marque.

'MUTUAL RESPECT'

We have recently changed our mission statement because it typifies our school ethos and how we promote community links

What our children tell us...

Science is the best lesson ever...
I just love science.
Jack Burnett

I think the lessons and teaching make learning fun.
Amy Targett

Maths is really fun.
Mason Ford

Literacy is cool!
Jack Brown

Teachers are strict but fair.
Conrad Morris

What our parents say...

My children are safe at Moorhill, they enjoy coming to school.
Rob Willis

I find staff approachable.
Simon Wilson

Moorhill supports the community. It is a warm and friendly school.
Edda Harrison

My child enjoys coming to school, likes teachers and playmates.
Tracey Richards

Having had four children attend Moorhill Primary, I have seen many changes but on the whole, the school has an extremely happy environment with the perfect atmosphere in which children are educated and thriving!
Mrs Morris

Children are valued, potential is recognised and talent is nurtured.
Mrs Wilcox

Ofsted states that:

- The school has taken a measured approach to making the curriculum more creative, and pupils' learning has benefited from this.
- Pupils report that 'the school keeps us very safe'. They behave well and appreciate the rewards and sanctions systems and how they enable them to learn.
- The headteacher's good leadership has been the driving force behind the upward trends evident in recent years.

Local organisations think...

As chairman of a local choir, Chase Choral Society, I have visited Moorhill Primary School on several occasions and have had the pleasure of working with their school choir in concert. Their enthusiasm, standard of music and behaviour has been a joy to see and hear. Every child should begin his or her musical life with a Sally Butlin!!
(Music Co-ordinator). Mrs Dutton, Chase Choral Society

I hear nothing but good about Moorhill from local people.
Frank Allen (Cannock North Councillor)

I'm a big believer in the youth of today, as our next generation. I love Moorhill and all it is doing to raise standards.
Gordon Alcott (Cannock Chase District Councillor)

What our grandparents say...

I love the school; my kids came here and so do my grandchildren.
Alison Henaughan

Moorhill's very good with the children, always going the extra mile.
Margaret Bainbridge

Everyone tries so hard for the children.

Five stars for takeaway

Chefs Peter Chung, left and Hafiz Miah with their 5-star Health and Safety award at Indian Dragon, Hednesford

A TAKEAWAY owner from Cannock is celebrating after his new business was given a five-star health and safety rating just six months after opening.

Indian Dragon opened in July 2011 and owner Ken Wong said he was overwhelmed to receive the award.

Inspectors from Rate My Place, which acts on behalf of several local authorities in Staffordshire, gave Indian Dragon the highest possible rating.

The restaurant, in Broadhurst Green, serves Indian and Cantonese cuisine. Mr Wong said: "For us to be a new business and to achieve the highest standard is overwhelming. It's a unique idea for a takeaway; there are many restaurants that do both cuisines but not takeaways."

The assessment overview from the inspection, available to view on the Cannock Chase Council website, said: "I was pleased to note that the standards currently being achieved are well above average for this type of business"

A clean bill of health in contamination tests

TESTS on two Cannock housing estates to establish if the land is contaminated have come back negative. The survey was on the Eastgate and Westgate estates in Rawsley.

They showed no cause for concern. By Harry Gottschalk

Initial soil samples in July 2010 gave rise to further investigations into possible contamination of water supply pipes, with the final report giving a clean bill of health to water supplies in December 2011.

Tests were funded by the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs and were undertaken by specialist consultants on behalf of the council.

Industrial

Environmental inquiries have become a standard requirement as part of house surveys in recent years in areas where housing has been built on former landfill and industrial sites. The testing programme was to determine whether the level of contamination to properties and in surrounding areas meets current guidelines.

Under the Environmental Protection Act 1990, the council is required to investigate sites that have previously been used by industry or have been in-filled.

Deputy council leader Councillor Janos Toth said: "It is the duty of the council to ensure that land is free from levels of contaminants which could pose a risk to health."

"The results of these tests confirm that there is no cause for concern."

Dog burned after routine vets visit

A FAMILY'S pet dog suffered burns to her back and was left with terrible scars after a visit to a vets for a routine procedure.

Burntwood couple Nicola and Darren Fellows spent more than £2,000 on treatment – including a visit to a specialist in Merseyside – to ease two-year-old Lucy's pain and correct the damage.

The insurers of the veterinary surgery in Cannock town centre have accepted full liability and reimbursed the couple the money they have spent.

Lucy, a Jack Russell, was taken to Melbourne Veterinary Centre in Hednesford Street in September to be spayed.

The couple noticed problems after taking her back to their Redwood Drive home.

Customer services advisor Nicky said: "The burn wasn't immediately obvious. We became concerned because she couldn't bear for us to touch her back and would just collapse.

"The vet told us it was a normal reaction after surgery.

"We were to-ing and fro-ing to the practice for two or three weeks but all they could say was that she had had a reaction to the injection.

"Eventually her fur started falling out and we could see weals."

Eating

The practice advised the Fellows to take Lucy to a specialist in St Helens.

She was sent home after a week when she stopped eating and the couple say they took two weeks off work.

Nicky, 34, and Darren, 39, say the practice has accepted responsibility and its insurance firm has paid the £2,100 the pair spent.

"Even now, Lucy is terribly scarred," said Nicky. "We haven't asked for compensation, we just wanted our money back."

Clinical director of the practice, Catalina Thiersen, declined to comment.

New art course at trust HQ

ARTISTS keen to advance their watercolour painting skills are being invited to attend a new course at a wildlife charity's Staffordshire headquarters.

Sue Chatterton is leading classes for people who have some experience of using watercolours at the Wolseley Centre base in Wolseley Bridge, located on the A51 between Stafford and Rugeley.

The 10-lesson course starts next Thursday (January 19) at 7pm. Topics to be covered include advanced brush techniques, composition, paper selection, composing an image from a photograph and painting the local flora and fauna.

A proportion of the £100 cost will go towards the Staffordshire Wildlife Trust's work in protecting the county's wildlife.

To book a place, call the trust on 01889 880100.

Beryl Rippon of the Beggar's Oak clog dancers and Dick Squire of the Lichfield Morris Men

Eve Arnold, aged 47 from Great Haywood, takes part in the wassailing ceremony at the Wolseley centre

Lesley Marriot, aged 46, Thomas Marriot, eight, and Paul Marriot 48 from Hill Ridware

Winifred Knight, aged 63, at the wassailing ceremony

Warding off spirits for good fruit harvest

AN age-old English tradition was celebrated at Staffordshire Wildlife Trust's orchard last weekend.

The wassailing ceremony is said to encourage a good fruit harvest and more than 120 people turned out at the Wolseley Centre on Sunday (January 8). Visitors took part in a series of ancient customs aimed at appeasing the tree spirits to ensure they bear a good yield of crops.

This included singing songs to pacify the spirits and sticking pieces of toast covered in cider in the trees to feed the robin, which is believed to be the guardian of the orchard.

Visitors were also entertained by Lichfield Morris Men, Beggar's Oak Clog Dancers and Armitage Mummies. Centre assistant Ron Rock said: "There were certainly more people this year than in previous years."

Have say on health matters

HEALTH chiefs can be questioned by the public over the latest developments at Stafford and Cannock Chase hospitals.

Hour-long slots have been dedicated to questions from the public at the meetings, hosted by the Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust.

A meeting is being held on January 26 at Cannock Chase District Council's headquarters in Beecroft Road at 6pm. The following day, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre in Eastgate Street will host a meeting, also at 6pm.

Trust chief executive Lyn Hill-Tout said: "We are looking forward to meeting local people face-to-face."

"We hope that by holding these events in the community, more people will come along and question us directly about the issues which they are concerned about."

Care worker sent to jail for ill-treatment

A CARE worker convicted of ill treating an elderly patient at a nursing home in Cannock has been jailed for nine months.

Ian Connelley was found guilty of ill-treating a person lacking mental capacity.

Connelley took a shortcut to change 79-year-old Ivan Gibson at Needwood House in Cannock, Stafford crown court heard. When the pensioner lashed out, Connelley grabbed him by the wrists, leaving him with red marks.

Connelley, aged 34, of Brownhills Road, Norton Canes, was dismissed by the home following his conviction.

Genie-ous production

Cast members Louise Hewitt and Francesca Breeze

ALL the traditional panto trimmings will be on show during a theatre group's performance of Aladdin at the Prince of Wales Centre.

A cast of more than 25 from Cannock Chase Drama Society is performing its annual pantomime from January 25 to 28. Julie Hunter, who is playing comedy character Not So-Shy, said: "This is the traditional story of Aladdin transposed into a pantomime with a villain, comedy parts and lots of popular modern numbers for the children."

"It's a lovely opportunity for all the family to come and see a good pantomime."

The group will lift the curtain at 6.30pm on January 25 at the Church Street venue. There will also be performances at 7.30pm on January 26, 27 and 28, as well as a 2.30pm matinee performance on January 28.

Tickets cost £8-£9 for adults and £7 to £8 for concessions. Call 01543 578762.

Force spends £2m on redundancies

STAFFORDSHIRE Police has paid out £2million on making 75 police officers and staff redundant and forcing them to retire in the past 18 months, latest figures show.

The payments come as the force battles to save £38m over the next four years.

To comply with government cutbacks, police chiefs announced the need to cut 285 posts during that period. They are also looking at merging some departments with West Midlands Police.

Figures show the Staffordshire force spent £479,098 in 2010-11 processing 15 redundancies, of which 11 were early retirements, three were voluntary and one was compulsory.

In the current financial year beginning in April, a further 60 redundancies have been made at a cost to the force of £1.7m.

By Marion Brennan

Of those, two thirds were early retirements and 20 were voluntary redundancies. In addition, the force is in the process of making a further six job losses, made up of three voluntary redundancies costing £83,550 and three early retirements which will cost £94,331.

Despite the spending cuts, Douglas Paxton, Deputy Chief Constable of Staffordshire, said: "We are well on our way to making these savings."

Appeal over apprentices

MORE firms are needed to sign up to a new apprenticeship programme. Cannock companies SSC Learning and Passionate Media have joined forces to offer the apprenticeship scheme.

Training specialists SSC Learning are looking for local businesses interested in taking on an apprentice to handle their digital marketing. Apprentices and their employers are holding a presentation from noon tomorrow (Friday) to help show interested firms what can be gained from taking on an apprentice. It is at the Roman Way Hotel, on the A5.

Grant by council is welcome

NORTON CANES WI

PRESIDENT Norma Jenvey welcomed members to the January meeting and wished everyone a Happy New Year.

The previous meeting was the Christmas party with 'Simply Magic' entertainment from David Oakley, followed by fish and chips.

The post Christmas meal is at the Terrace restaurant on February 15 at 7pm. The Heathside Group meeting is at Shreshill on March 29.

In October it is Norton's turn to host the Group meeting at the Trinity Methodist Chapel.

Members are grateful for a grant towards funds awarded by the parish council.

Speaker was Wendy Hayward, the superintendent of the Cannock branch of St John Ambulance.

The February 1 meeting will feature a fashion show. It is at the library, in Burntwood Road, from 7.30pm.

Festive quiz held for Lions benefit

Lion Graham Stanyer lays a wreath at Hednesford Cenotaph

CANNOCK Lions Club had an incredible two months during November and December. They began by attending the Hednesford Community Centre open day.

They also took part in the Remembrance Day parade, finished second in the Zone quiz, marshalled - and had a stall - at the Cannock switch-on and decorated a tree for St Lukes Christmas Tree festival.

Members did a table top sale and helped at the jewellery sale at Newlife, marshalled at the Hednesford switch-on and at Christmas filled 20 shoeboxes to be sent to soldiers abroad.

President Doug did an interview for Stafford Radio, while the Prince of Wales Centre allowed a collection at the Talon concert. There was more marshalling at Newlife's Santa Dash before a meal at the Newhall Farm where a Christmas quiz was held with the proceeds going to the Lions.

EATING OUT

Chips are not down on Fry-day's family feast

The Orbital Brewers Fayre at Eastern Way, Cannock; inset: Diners can tuck in to Friday's fish and chip night

BUSY schedules and shortage of money all combine to limit the times that families eat out together these days.

Some working parents may even find it cheaper, or perhaps more convenient, to just pop to the takeaway.

But there is an alternative thanks to the Orbital Brewers Fayre - takeaway-style food at the pub.

The pub started life as Brewster's, complete with children's play area and Brewster Bear mascot, and was always a popular family eatery. The play area is no longer as a Premier Inn has been built on the site, but the restaurant still retains that family feel and has launched an all you can eat buffet, with a different theme each night.

Monday is Chinese night, Tuesdays and Thursdays are dedicated to curries, while it is Mexican night on a Thursday. Friday nights are centred on traditional chip shop nights and a carvery is served from noon on Sundays.

At £5.99 per person, or just £4.50 for the under-12s, it won't break the bank, whichever night you choose to go - and you can have what you want as many times as you like. Children can even get free top ups on their soft drinks.

My family and I tucked into the chip shop buffet, with fish, fish cakes, mini steak and onion pies, chicken breast and battered sausage all available to complement the chips, along with peas, gravy and tartare sauce.

It was a busy night with many hotel guests also tucking in but staff were pleasant and courteous throughout. And the food was delicious.

Buffet nights run from 5pm but the usual menu and two for £10 daytime deals are also offered. For more details call the Orbital Brewers Fayre, in Eastern Way, on 01543 467574.

The Waltz King of Europe is returning to the UK with his Orchestra to perform in concert next year at The O2 Arena in London.

Acknowledged as one of the world's greatest living musical legends, Dutch-born Andre Rieu was classically trained, and is now an accomplished violinist, an excellent conductor and a truly remarkable showman.

With his orchestra, choir and soloists, he brings a delightful and innovative approach to his concerts, recreating the atmosphere of 19th century Viennese dance halls, where audiences sway with the music, hum along and even dance in the aisles – it all happens!

During the concert you will hear music from across the star's repertoire, from his first album, 'Strauss & Co' to his latest release, 'And the Waltz Goes On'. It will be a truly wonderful experience that you'll remember for years to come.

Extreme circus to entertain audience

AN EXTREME circus show which made the semi-finals of Britain's Got Talent 2011 will entertain and enthral the crowds in Lichfield later this month.

The Circus of Horrors features sword swallowers, trapeze artists, acrobats, contortionists and sinister and bizarre acts, all designed to shock and entertain.

Latest show The Ventriloquist follows on from successful production The 4 Chapters from Hell and is set in Berlin, 1921, when cabaret was born.

TWISTED

One particular venue was struggling to make ends meet, new blood was needed and it was found when Dr Haze rolled into town with his Vampire Vaudeville show.

The Vampire Vaudeville features hair hanging beauties, twisted contortionists, flying aerialists, demon dwarfs, gyrating jugglers, voodoo warriors, pickled people and its latest new found star The Ventriloquist.

The Circus of Horrors will be at the Lichfield Garrick on Friday January 27 at 7.30pm.

Tickets cost from £18. Book at www.lichfieldgarrick.com, or call the box office on 01543 412121.

Shakespeare with twist – but for one night only

FAMILY friendly comedy the Merry Wives of Windsor is coming to Cannock next week – but for one night only.

Theatre company Oddsocks, established in 1989 by husband and wife Andy Barrow and Elli Mackenzie, will visit the Prince of Wales Centre on Tuesday (January 17).

Father and son team in Garrick date

THERE may have been a lack of snow in Lichfield this winter but all that will change when a famous father and son team visit the city on January 26.

Newsreader Jon Snow will join his historian son Dan at the Lichfield Garrick for an anecdotal evening.

The pair will talk about their lives in TV broadcasting, including the making of the BBC series Battlefield Britain, and Dan's recent Empire of the Seas series on the Royal Navy.

The second half of the show will see Peter and Dan open the floor to questions from the audience.

Tickets start from £12.50. To book, visit www.lichfieldgarrick.com or call 01543 412121.

It will be their first visit to the Church Street venue. Its latest production takes a twist on the Shakespeare play, having been inspired by the teenage revolution of the 1950s and the Soho coffee bars which saw the birth of rock and roll.

It will be set in a TV studio. The audience is invited to imagine it is watching a live recording of a comedy show and is expected to join in accordingly.

Bollywood

Actors Avita Jay and Tareh Solanki will be bringing some Bollywood glamour to proceedings, while the cast also includes Oddsocks regulars Elli Mackenzie, Andy McGillan and newcomer Paul O'Neill.

The show is directed by Andy Barrow with set design by Andy Barrow and Kee Ramsorrun.

Tickets are £14 for adults and £12 concessions, with a group booking offer of buy three get the fourth free. Visit www.oddsocks.co.uk or call 01543 578762.

Panto's a winner at box office

ATTENDANCES for Cannock's record-breaking panto were up by 30 per cent on 2010's show.

Calculations following the final performance of Snow White at The Prince of Wales Centre revealed an increase on the previous year's figures, bumping up the takings by an extra £7,000.

Theatre manager Richard Kay said they were delighted with the panto's popularity, which he put down to, among other things, sensible pricing.

"These are tough times but we had easily beaten last year's total for Cinderella three-quarters of the way through the run.

"We finished up with 4,072 in total.

"It's been fantastic and that's been down to a combination of a really great show, with people giving good feedback and sensible pricing."

HATS to perform a mystery thriller

MYSTERY thriller Murder in Company is sure to keep audiences guessing at a two-night run at Whittington Village Hall on March 30/31.

The HATS (Harlequin Amateur Theatrical Society) production centres around an amateur dramatic group rehearsing its next production.

There is a prowler in the neighbourhood who attacks one of the members, with blackmail and intrigue following.

Visit www.hatsdrama.com or call Les on 01922 682029 or Kay on 01543 490355.

Psychic fair aids Cats Protection

MYSTIC Mog is predicting a good turnout for a psychic and holistic fair in aid of Lichfield Cats Protection.

The fair takes place on Saturday (January 21) from 10am to 4pm at St Mary's Centre, in Lichfield.

It will feature readings via crystal ball or tarot cards and holistic treatments. Booking is not required.

There will also be a fundraising stall and tombola for the Lichfield Cats Protection.

Bright sparks are plugging in to Renault's electric vehicles

Renault's electric vehicle dealerships will have at least two specially trained sales assistants

A LIST of 21 Renault dealers has been announced, each of which will be a new electric vehicle centre capable of selling, servicing and providing charging facilities.

The sites cover the Home Counties, the South Coast and West as far as Plymouth, with locations also in Cardiff, the North East and major Midland cities including Birmingham and Leicester.

The North West, beyond a pair of dealerships in Manchester and Liverpool, will not have a Z.E. Expert site.

Each dealership on the list will have a minimum of two specially trained electric car specialist sales people with the ability to answer questions concerning Renault's expanding Z.E. range of fully electric cars, as well as complete servicing expertise and a charging point outside the building for customers to use if they wish.

A further three service staff – a manager and two technicians – can perform all the necessary maintenance on any of Renault's range of Z.E. vehicles, which has begun with the Fluence Z.E. and the Kangoo Z.E. Each Z.E. Expert site will have a Kangoo van Z.E. demonstrator, to allow potential buyers to experience an electric driving experience.

They will also have three electric charging points; one for the service area, one for the demonstrator area and one for the customer car park.

Thierry Sybord, managing director, Renault UK, said: "I'm delighted to see so many of our dealers embracing this new era of electric transport."

"With a range of four fully electric models set to launch in the UK in less than one year, we have high hopes for our Z.E. range."

Winter driving tips

ROAD safety charity the IAM is issuing advice for driving in windy weather as severe gales hit the country.

Plan your journey – is there a route with less exposure to the weather and less risk of fallen trees? Choose a sheltered route if you have the option.

Strong winds are not constant, they are usually gusty so ensure you hold the steering wheel firmly.

Overtaking high sided vehicles or driving past buildings can result in a sudden gust from the side as you clear.

Give cyclists, motorcyclists, lorries and buses more room than usual. They get blown around by side winds easily.

Watch trees and bushes on the roadside – their branches show you how strong the wind is. Look well ahead, that way you don't need to take your eye off the road and you can see any windy patches before you get to them.

Volvo set to take on big boys

AS LONG as I can remember the name Volvo in car manufacturing terms has always meant dependant reliable vehicles and a few years ago if you were in the market for an estate car there really was only one option and that was the Volvo.

Time moves on and motoring fashions change but Volvo have not stood still and the XC60 has managed to combine the best of the XC90 and the XC70 estate car, in combining these it has produced one of the safest and the most stylish Volvo yet seen.

The market place for the XC60 is a difficult one especially with the current economic climate and people wanting more and more miles to the gallon and lower CO2 emissions. The market is currently dominated by the Nissan Qashqai, Honda CRV perhaps the Toyota Rav or the BMW X3.

The XC60 is 21cms shorter than the XC70 estate and 17 cms shorter and 7cms lower than the XC90.

The coupe features really do give the XC60 an agile, sharp handling look; obviously a wide track and a firmly tuned suspension with excellent steering give the vehicle the characteristics and dynamics of a vehicle that perhaps you would like to aspire to. In addition this vehicle is a pleasure to drive and with Volvo safety you will feel cocooned within it.

Electronic

The XC60 that I had on test had the all-wheel drive system and this really does improve the handling and road holding and does give it a feeling of stability when the road surface is a little wet or slippery.

Drive is to all four wheels but the electronic set up automatically senses if a wheel is not gripping properly and transfers power to it where it is needed, this ensures maximum traction at all times.

The driving dynamics of the vehicle which was equipped with a 2,400cc five-cylinder diesel engine was reassuring at all times, with a slightly higher driving position and an excellent cabin design with well thought out features, you have a vehicle that you quickly adapt to and become comfortable with.

The engine produces 215 bhp and delivers a quoted mpg of 50.4 mpg on the combined cycle due to the stop start system.

It was gratifying to note that I actually managed to get within five mpg of these figures on a combination of twisty, sinewy A and B class roads and reasonably high speed motorway gallop, so for once the consumption figures were reasonably accurate.

The excellent fuel figures

By Bob Hickman

for this large vehicle are helped by the stop/start system which has been incorporated, albeit it is strange at first to sit in a completely silent vehicle when you come to a halt and take your foot off the clutch and the engines stops, and as soon as you press the clutch pedal it starts again, you soon adapt and get used to this feature.

The performance for the size of the vehicle is reasonably commendable, 0-60 in 9.7 seconds and a top speed where permissible of 130 mph is certainly more than adequate for this humble scribe's needs.

My test vehicle's trim level was quite high, Volvo are after all a premium brand manufacturer and I think you would expect to find front fog lamps, alloy wheels, roof rails and spoilers and the interior details to be high to include electronic climate control, an information centre, cruise control, leather steering wheel with excellent remote controls built in and a CD player as standard features on a vehicle of this stature and price.

One feature on the XC60 is Volvo's city safe technology, this facility helps to avoid low speed accidents in city traffic or tailbacks, basically up to nine mph if the vehicle brakes in front suddenly the system can determine a collision is likely and the brakes are applied for you.

Indicator

It works by way of a system of laser sensors which are integrated at the top of the windscreen and it detects when the vehicle in front or other objects up to 10 metres from the front of the car bumper.

Volvo in addition to the safety technology has gone to extremes with electronic safety wizardry in the XC60, for example on my particular vehicle a small indicator contained in the wing mirror lights up when a vehicle is overtaking you and in your blind spot, a really useful feature that I can see becoming common place in an awfully lot more vehicles.

If the Volvo is going to be a contender for a place on your drive then be prepared to pay between £31,700 and £40,415.

Alloy wheels are just one of the high spec features

Shogun now setting pace

FOLLOWING the success of the latest (12MY) Mitsubishi Shogun, Mitsubishi Motors in the UK are about to extend the Shogun range with the introduction of the Shogun Black, a new special edition model with enhanced styling.

From the outside the new Mitsubishi Shogun Black boasts a dynamic appearance with the introduction of satin black styling kit which includes striking black 20" alloy wheels, roof, spoiler, wing mirrors, grille and headlamp bezels, fog lamp surrounds, door handles and side steps.

Based on the current Mitsubishi 3.2 Di-D LWB Shogun SG4, the newcomer is available now.

With 197bhp and a massive 441Nm of torque it has increased towing capacity to 3,500kg, best-in-class CO2 emissions which not only means it is kinder to the environment, it also has lower road tax too.

Complete with new satellite navigation and Bluetooth systems to help with any adventure. As always, the Shogun comes packed with an array of equipment including:

- At a glance
- Mitsubishi Motors Communication System (MMCS) with:
- Satellite navigation
- Reversing camera
- iPod connection
- The interior has items such as:
- New leather upholstery
- New enhanced illumination for instruments
- New brushed silver finish for power window control panels

Other features include:

- Mitsubishi Active Stability and Traction Control (M-ASTC)

- Auto lights, auto wipers and privacy glass
- A colour coded spare wheel cover as standard
- Brake override system – in case the driver accidentally hits the brake and accelerator at the same time (the car automatically opts for the safer braking option)

- Rear under-cover, thus reducing aerodynamic drag
- Electric power steering

It has a 3-year / unlimited mileage warranty together with a pan-European roadside assistance package. Service intervals for all 12MY Shogun variants are 9,000 miles/12 months (whichever comes first).

The Mitsubishi Shogun Black is priced £1,000 above the SG4 model at £41,999. The metallic charge for Shogun is an additional £540.

CC coupe full of comforts

VOLKSWAGEN has announced UK pricing for the new CC, which is now available to order.

The new CC, which made its debut at the Los Angeles Auto Show in November, will cost £24,200 for the entry-level 1.8-litre TSI 160 PS, rising to £30,100 for the range-topping GT 2.0-litre TDI 170 PS DSG with BlueMotion Technology.

The new CC offers the same blend of four-door practicality and sleek coupé-like styling as its predecessor, the Passat CC, but is updated to incorporate Volkswagen's new design DNA. This is most evident at the front in the new radiator grille's strong horizontal line and the reprofiled bumper, and at the rear in the completely redesigned bumper and new LED tail lights.

The comprehensive standard specification includes RNS 315 touchscreen satellite navigation system, DAB digital radio, iPod and Bluetooth connectivity, 2Zone climate control, 17-inch alloy wheels, x-xenon headlights and brake energy recuperation on all models.

Stability

Safety features include a driver alert system, ESP electronic stabilisation programme and four-way adjustable front head restraints, to reduce the risk of whiplash injuries. Move up to GT trim and the equipment becomes sybaritic.

Options include High Beam Assist, which automatically controls dipping of the headlights; Side Assist, which monitors the vehicle's blind spot; Lane Assist and adaptive cruise control with City Emergency Braking function; a rear-view camera; front climate seats with massage function; and an electrically deployed towbar.

From launch, the UK engine range will comprise 1.8-litre TSI 160 PS or 2.0-litre TSI 210 PS petrols and a 2.0-litre TDI common rail diesel with either 140 or 170 PS.

UK retailers are taking orders for the new car now and

Volkswagen's new CC – prices start at £24,200, rising to £30,100 for the top-of-the-range GT model

The new Shogun Black (which only comes in white) features a host of new gadgets and equipment

Blow as law firm to cease trading

A LAW firm has folded after three decades of trading following cuts to legal aid with the loss of 20 jobs.

Jewels Solicitors, which celebrated its 30th anniversary in 2010, has entered administration.

The company, which had offices in Cannock and Stafford, was set up by Mark Jewels who went on to develop partnership firms with former Stafford MP David Kidney and others.

The pair worked together for several years until Mr Kidney entered Parliament in 1997.

He said: "It was a great legal firm and provided important social support for a number of disadvantaged groups. I am sad we have lost that service in Stafford."

Neglected

In 2003 Mark Jewels was named Legal Aid lawyer of the year for his work with disadvantaged children and those who had been abused or neglected.

Administrators Begbies Traynor are now handling the firm which had bases in Victoria Road, Stafford and Hayes Way, Cannock, and employed around 20 people. It was dealing with more than 1,000 cases.

The firm is liaising with Begbies Traynor to ensure the cases are transferred appropriately to other firms.

Steve Currie, of Begbies Traynor, said: "The reason for administration is primarily because of the cuts in public sector funding for legal aid. It was adversely impacted - 80 per cent of Jewels' work was legal aid work."

Overtime by fire crews amounts to £500,000

FIREFIGHTERS in Staffordshire have clocked up more than half a million pounds in overtime payments in the past three years.

New figures show that Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service paid £136,217 to staff working over their agreed hours in 2008/9. A further £183,594 was paid in 2009/10.

On top of that another £157,679 was paid out in 2010/11. An extra £89,673 was paid during the first seven months of the 2011/12 financial year.

Fire chiefs say the figures are explained by the nature of the work.

Bosses say firefighters are sometimes required to work longer shifts or cover staff absences.

They have also said they are trying to cut down on how much they pay out by changing staffing arrangements.

Dean Stevens, of Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service, said: "We currently pay firefighters overtime for a number of reasons such as when their continued presence is required at operational incidents after their shift has ended, or to cover short-term deficiencies in crewing numbers."

Prevention

"As a service that always responds to emergency incidents we recognise this sometimes results in having to pay overtime to staff."

"However, we are working hard to lessen the demands on the operational arm of the service through our prevention and protection work, which importantly will also reduce risk to the communities we serve."

He said that over the past few years the service had moved to a style of management that had enabled local managers to have greater control over the resources in their area.

This had resulted in some significant savings on overtime paid.

Mr Stevens said: "The findings from our business transformation team have identified where we can make improvements to ensure we have the right number of personnel available to crew our fire appliances at the right times and we are looking at alternative staffing models in an attempt to minimise the need for overtime."

Five star nursery award

Nursery nurse Lyndsey Turner and Jaden Le Rue, aged three, celebrate the five stars Rate My Place rating at Stepping Stones Day Nursery

A NURSERY that serves up three meals a day for hungry youngsters has been awarded a top notch rating by hygiene inspectors.

Stepping Stones Nursery, in Heath Hayes, received five stars under Staffordshire County Council's Rate My Place scheme. Bosses at the Hayes Way site hailed cook Lynda Burgess, who runs the busy kitchen serving 55 children.

Manager Emma Neenan said: "We serve breakfast, lunch and tea, promoting healthy eating. Every day the children get their five fruit and veg."

"The children love the food and they love the cook."

Riddle of football TV pub's £4k fine

PUBS illegally screening Premier League football matches on foreign decoders and satellites are continuing to face prosecution - despite a European Court ruling they believed offered them protection.

The Red Lion, in Willenhall, was the latest pub to be hit with a £4,000 fine. But landlords across Staffordshire and the Black Country believed a recent ruling from a European judge opened the gates for them to be able to show games via cut-price networks, and now claim to have been left in limbo.

Ian Scott, who runs Bar Sport in High Green, Cannock, said that showing games through foreign decoders brought in a lot of customers.

Package

"It's heaving in here on a Saturday, especially for Wolves games," he said.

"In the Red Lion case, it seems very harsh that the authorities have been so heavy-handed over something that will be legal next month."

Although a new ruling is likely to become law in the UK following a High Court hearing on February 24, it currently remains illegal to show games unless it is through a Sky or ESPN subscription package.

Wolverhampton magistrates heard how the Red Lion had breached copyright law by showing a game between Spurs and West Ham United last March 19.

Ex-landlord Lee Bywater and ex-manager Joe Martin were ordered to pay more than £4,190 between them.

Gill happy to tell of life on wagon

A PENKRIDGE woman who turned her life around after giving up alcohol shared her experience with the nation.

On January 2, 2004, Gill Fletcher pledged to stop drinking and change her life forever and eight years later she has not touched another drop.

The mum-of-two has also lost six stone in weight, shrinking from a size 22 to a size 12, and now runs her own

Slimming World classes in Stafford.

With a group of MPs this week advising that drinking guidelines should be revised and people should have two alcohol-free days a week, Miss Fletcher was asked to give her opinion on the daily morning current affairs programme Daybreak.

Seated alongside regular TV medic Dr Hilary Jones, she said that in reality the government proposals for two drink-free days were impractical.

"Does that mean that we can save them all up and party on a Friday if you've had two dry days?" the Slimming World consultant said.

"The most important thing is recognising it and making that decision that you do need to change."

Miss Fletcher, who earned praise from Dr Jones on the programme, has appeared on TV before and, speaking afterwards to The Chronicle, said she was more than happy to tell her story if it helped others in a similar situation.

"It's an emotive subject, but for me it's about educating people," Miss Fletcher added.

Dancing

"One glass of wine has a different strength to another so people just don't know how many units they're having - and that's a problem."

"I don't think (the government advice) is going to address the bigger overall issue. It's no good having two days off and then thinking you can drink whatever you want on a Friday night."

Miss Fletcher, who took up Cerok dancing in Wolverhampton to help her lose weight, compared binge drinking to binge eating.

"We don't advise you save all your units up and then have a binge - it's not a healthy way of doing it."

For more information on Miss Fletcher's Slimming World classes, call her on 07958 000554.

NOTICE TO READERS

Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer.

1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with its Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree.
Whilst Midland News
Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy
Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Lichfield defeat leaders

Lichfield Diamonds Ladies 3 Leamington Lions LFC 2
DIAMONDS inflicted the second defeat of the West Midlands Premier season on Leamington.

Goals from Karen Cloughs and Emma Dagley gave Lichfield a 2-0 lead. But the second half saw the Lions hit back to equalise.

However, the Clough-Dagley combination produced the winner from another corner.

Stafford Town 0 Rugeley Rangers U-15 9

Rugeley carried on their winning ways of 2011 into the new year with a big victory over their local rivals.

There were hat-tricks for Alana Hodges and Holly Meehan with Paige Jackson, Chelsea Stevens and Mel Price also on the scoresheet.

Lichfield Diamonds U-14 2 Billbrook Girls U-14 1

Katie Hitchcock bagged a brace as Diamonds booked a place in the last four of the Staffs FA/Tesco Girls County Cup final.

Hitchcock ran clear to fire left-footed into the roof of the net. Lichfield conceded an equaliser just before the break but Hitchcock was on the mark again in the second half to seal the win.

Silverdale Girls U-12 1 Lichfield Diamonds U-12 16

South Staffs Girls League leaders Lichfield cruised to victory against bottom club Silverdale.

Danni Oxley struck six times and there were goals for Megan Davey (5), Elizabeth Palmer (2), Charlotte Jarvis, Kelly Craythorne and Libby Dunne.

Chasetown U-13s 3 Burntwood Phoenix U13s 0

Beth Hickman and Megan Dainty went close as Chasetown controlled the first half.

Molly Heele hit the woodwork in the second period before threading a ball through to Summer Johnson who scored from the edge of the box.

Her second came a few minutes later before winger Sarah Bennett showed nifty footwork to add a third.

Hednesford Utd U-12 3 Walsall Town 0

UNITED had a South Staffs Young Women's League win over Walsall Town.

Lois Brindley opened the scoring with a classy finish before Paige Smith-Kirkham and Samantha Pawdon added second-half goals.

Wheel send Hay spinning out of cup

FOURTH Division Winding Wheel pulled off an upset by knocking out third division title hopefuls Cheslyn Hay Athletic 4-3 after extra time in the second round of the Cannock Chase Cup.

Nick Hodgkiss got his second goal of the game with two minutes to go to make it 2-1.

But then Cheslyn Hay took the game into extra time with a last-gasp equaliser. The added 30 minutes saw Niall Foy bag two goals, one of which a stoppage time winner.

Third division Louis Autos knocked out Victoria Athletic, second placed in division two, 4-1.

Wes Grey (2), Scott Withers and Dan Moore were the scorers.

Bar Sport knocked out the holders, Mary Rose, 2-1 with a goal each for Arron Wright and Jamie Chapman.

Third division New Inns knocked out Second division Victoria 3-2 with Mark Fowler scoring the winning penalty.

Church Hill from division five knocked out third division Royal Oak 4-2, while Athletic Bridge sent Green Rock packing with two second half goals from Stu Stanley and Martin Bradley.

Cannock Chase League

AFC Jolly Collier knocked out AFC Littleton 4-1 with Jason Pilkington scoring a hat-trick.

Premier League leaders and last season's finalists, The Dog, progressed from round three of the Cannock Chase Cup - but only just. They needed extra time to beat fourth division TNT 4-2.

Premier League St Matthews edged out fourth division Cannock & Rugeley 4-3 and Yates Sports, also from the Premier, needed penalties to knock out fourth division Lamb & Flag. Premier League action saw second placed Rugeley Utd beat Brereton Social Lion 2-1.

Congratulations go out to Magic Lantern who clinched promotion back to the Premier League after beating Homestead 4-0 in division one. A victory this Sunday will see them crowned as champions, the first time the title will have ever been decided in January.

The Ascot's second win of the season came at the expense of bottom side Colliers Arms 5-0. Chris Fowler bagged a hat-trick. Chase Spartans beat Yew Tree 3-2.

In division four, Lime Lane won a seven goal thriller beating White

Hart 4-3 with Lee White bagging the winner.

Rugeley Rangers beat their local rivals, The Castle, 2-1. Second half goals by Mick Daily and Lee Pascal won the bragging rights and 17-year-old midfielder Dave Edwards was man of the match.

A second half goal by Greg Beach gave all three points to the Hen House against Jubilee in division five. Forest Rangers beat Green Heath 4-3.

Leaders AFC Railway made it 12 wins from 12 after beating White Lion 9-3. Nick Pilditch scored a hat-trick.

Spot-kicks drama puts Scholars into cup semi CHASETOWN needed a penalty shoot-out to progress to the semi-finals of the Walsall Senior Cup in a tense and close-run game at Heath Hayes on Tuesday evening.

The Scholars, following a brace of League defeats, quickly took the game to their Midland Alliance opponents, but the first half progressed slowly. Dean Perrow and Danny Smith found a succession of chances falling to them, but they were unable to convert them, writes Dave Goddard.

Hayes lost goalkeeper Adam Jenkins after only 16 minutes with a dislocated finger and defender Ben Maddox took the gloves.

Maddox put in a fine performance between the sticks and the score remained goalless at the break.

The pace picked up in the second half and on 62 minutes a Mark Branch corner from the right was headed home by skipper Richard Teesdale to put Chasetown in front.

The Scholars' lead would last just five minutes, however, as a move down the centre caught keeper Ryan Price off guard and Karl Wallis was able to slot home at the near post.

Thereafter it was Chasetown for much of the half, the Hayes goal being peppered by Perrow and Smith.

Dave Bridgewater and Mark Branch supplied several free-kicks and corners while Mark Hands worked hard in midfield and Greg Downes - on his first Scholars start - produced several powerful shots only for all to fly wide.

Hayes were more than up to the task however, Maddox in particular impressing with several excellent saves.

In the last five minutes Teesdale headed two corners into the side netting and the bar respectively while Smith headed wide at the near post from yet another Scholars corner, and extra time beckoned.

Though both sides dug deep during the extra period the target could not be found. Perrow being frustrated more than once by the woodwork while home substitute Danny Owen went very close with a low shot, and penalties would settle the result.

Perrow was fated not to score and Maddox saved his kick, but Hayes' sixth attempt saw Price save from Luke Jones and Downes netted the last kick for the Scholars to set up a meeting with Rushall Olympic in the semi-finals.

Chasetown's Danny Smith, left, under pressure in the Scholars' win over Heath Hayes

Darren so deadly to grab point

A DEFLECTED left-footed Darren Campion strike earned Hednesford Town a share of the spoils in a 1-1 Evo-Stik Premier Division home clash with promotion rivals Bradford Park Avenue.

Bradford should have taken the lead twice before finally breaking the deadlock. Tom Greaves sliced a shot wide of the post, after Dan Crane had palmed the ball into his path, and James Knowles headed inches wide on 25 minutes.

But the visitors struck on 32 minutes when Rob O'Brien dug out a superb cross from the right touchline and Crane was unable to prevent Greaves from nodding into the net.

Stout Pitmen defending kept them in with a shout and there was always a chance that a set-piece or moment of individual skill could bring the game level.

On 68 minutes, Campion arrowed a long range free-kick towards goal and saw the ball deflect off the back of James Riley to level the scores.

Striker to put his talent to the test

HEATH HAYES striker Ben Haseley has moved to Halesowen and Yeltz boss Shaun Cunningham insists the new-boy can handle the quality jump.

The striker is set to make his debut against North Leigh on Saturday after signing from Heath Hayes - following 21 goals in 29 games this term.

Cunningham reckons the 26-year-old can shine in the Southern League Division One South and West following his move from the Midland Alliance.

He said: "We wouldn't have brought him to the club if we didn't think he could make the step up."

"Hopefully he can continue to be prolific at our level. He's got pace and has all the key ingredients we're looking for. He's making a step up in terms of clubs but he's 26 and a very mature player."

"We've been creating a lot of chances but haven't been converting them, which has cost us."

Halesowen are 15th in the table after three wins in their last 10 games and resigned goalkeeper Mark Fulwood this week as cover for the injured Paul Evans.

Power pops up for a big carp haul

ANGLERS have produced notable catches recently at Blackfords AC Calf Heath Reservoir.

Kevin Power from Wolverhampton had 11 carp to 13lb during a day session, using marukyu 131 ground bait with a pop-up boilie, while Antony Maysbury took four carp. Bailiff Phil Russell landed 23 carp during a night and day session, the biggest weighing in 16lb 2oz.

Reports of a 20lb 8oz common carp from the venue have been verified, while many anglers fishing in the recent match reported good bags of bream and roach between six and 12 ounces.

Local rivers have been up and down of late but anglers fishing between the spates have caught some big barbel and chub with the Dove and the Trent fishing well.

Trout fisheries have reported bumper sport throughout December and early January; Loynton, Ellerdine and Seighford have all been fishing well.

Thrilling fightback rescues 17-point deficit

Walsall 38 Lichfield 41

A SUPERB try with eight minutes left capped a splendid fightback as Lichfield hit back from 17 points down to win at Walsall.

Lichfield started the brighter and after four minutes the impressive Greg Massey crossed the try line, converting his own score to take Lichfield into a deserved lead.

From the kick-off, Lichfield's attempts to run the ball were thwarted and poor contact skills resulted in a turnover and a try for Stephen Halbert, converted by Walsall's fly-half Matt Wood.

Then followed a period of poor defensive play as Lichfield conceded two further tries as they seemed incapable of stemming the tide of Walsall forward drives. Andy and then Pete Fitzgerald scored, each converted by Wood. With ball in hand, Lichfield played with intensity, but poor contact skills and body positions through the ruck afforded Walsall a number of turnovers.

The sprightly Matt Smith scored in the 38th minute, shortly after the Walsall No.8 was yellow carded for a trip.

After a searing line break by Tom Paulsen, Smith supported well and scored under the post, which was converted by Greg Massey. On the stroke of half-time the Walsall fly-half scored a further try which he also converted for a 31-14 lead.

Lichfield hit back in the second half with Milner, now playing at inside centre, running a lovely dummy centre switch move to cross under the posts, converted by Greg Massey. This signalled the start of a superb fightback and Milner crossed the line again four minutes later after excellent phase play.

The willingness and confidence of the young Lichfield backs to run from their own line paid off when a slick move freed Massey to run the length of the pitch to score in the 53rd minute and convert his own score.

He landed a further penalty, but Walsall scored a try after Lichfield were turned over in the centre of the pitch. Wood, who had a superb game with the boot, converted once again to put Walsall 38-36 up.

Repeated infringements allowed Lichfield to inch closer and closer. Lichfield set up a ruck five metres out and as Walsall expected Matt Smith to pass right, Paul Maxwell-Keys glided unnoticed around to the blind-side and executed a superb off-load to set up Brad Rowlands in the corner for an outstanding try on 72 minutes.

Walsall then threw everything at Lichfield, but met outstanding defence.

Bangers battle it out in a 'civil war'

TOP banger racers will converge on Hedgesford Hills Raceway this Sunday as the North take on the South in the 13th annual 'Civil War'.

It's the biggest head-to-head team meeting in the sport, and the crunch and crash of twisting metal is set to rumble across the hills as the two tribes go to war.

The armies will have 80 'soldiers' each, and are split into three factions - the Light Brigade (racing 1400cc hatchbacks), the Infantry (Ford Mondeo and similar cars) and Tanks (unlimited).

Each division gets three races plus a Demolition Derby where the last car still moving wins.

The North race in white, the South in red, and the Northern Army under General Andy "Psycho" Holmes will be aiming to avenge last year's defeat.

The Southern Army will be ready for them led by skipper General Paul Adams.

Hedgesford Hills Raceway has been staging stock car and banger racing for more than 40 years, and the banked asphalt quarter-mile oval is the fastest of its kind in the UK.

Gates open at around 10am, with action getting underway at 1pm.

Admission is £15 for adults, £12 for concessions and £7 for children, with family tickets (admitting two adults and up to three children) for £40.

Trackside parking is available for £6 per car on a first come, first served basis.

Seaside flop by Scholars

CHASETOWN'S poor start to 2012 continued at the weekend as Whitby Town claimed their first home win of the season 2-0.

The Scholars barely created a chance against the Evo-Stik Premier strugglers.

Whitby went ahead when Tom Portas cut in from the right and hammered a low shot past Ryan Price, and at the start of the second half when a cross from the left found Andy Appleby, who jinked round Price and slotted home.

The Chronicle, a Midland News Association Ltd publication, printed by the company at Ketley, Telford, Thursday, January 12, 2012.

THE PITMEN'S PELE LEAVES KEYS PARK

Cup woe as Town toppled

A DISJOINTED performance by Hednesford Town saw the Doodson Cup side lose 2-1 at Rushall Olympic and must now concentrate on the league.

Former Pitmen favourite Decio Gomes and Rushall captain Lucan Spittle were superb and contributed in no small measure to victory on Tuesday night.

Ben Jevons could have opened the scoring for Town as he broke through and saw his shot saved by Lewis Fenney, but Rushall took the lead when Dan Crane slapped a cross to the feet of Richard Blythe who couldn't miss.

A superb pass down the left by stand-in left back Chris Clements set Andre Langdell away and he skipped past Spittle and crashed a shot in off the bar to level on 37 minutes.

Parity lasted just two minutes as Hednesford allowed Alex Melbourne to pick up a short corner and crash a shot beyond Dan Crane.

Hednesford introduced Nick Wellecome, Gary Hay and Lewis Suckling into the fray, but found Fenny in top form as he acrobatically denied Hay and, in the final minute, goalkeeper Crane saw a header cleared off the line.

Smith said: "We are delighted with both acqui-

HEDNESFORD manager Rob Smith believes he has lost a "top pro" after a busy period of transfer activity was compounded by the departure of defender Pedro Monteiro.

The former Albion stopper, also known as Pele, left the club this week and has moved away from the area but honoured a gentleman's agreement with Smith to play in the latest run of fixtures.

The Cape Verde international will now rejoin his family in Southampton, where he was a player in 2006-07, and look for a team closer to home.

But the 33-year-old has left Keys Park on good terms.

And Smith hailed the impact he has had on the team since arriving in the summer.

The Pitmen boss said: "We will all miss this top quality footballer."

"But the young players around him owe him a debt of gratitude, as they will have learned a lot from him while he has been with us," he added.

"Pedro was a joy to work with and is a top pro."

Loanee

While Monteiro headed for the exit door, Hednesford welcomed Mark Beesley and former Pitmen loanee Liam Blakeman to the club this week.

Smith saw off interest from other clubs in the Evo-Stik Northern Premier League club to land Beesley from Burscough.

Striker Beesley is among the top scorers in the division.

Midfielder Blakeman enjoyed a successful spell at Keys Park on loan from Southport last season and has now joined permanently, after spending time at Bootle.

Smith said: "We are delighted with both acqui-

by Craig Birch

tions. Both lads have a cracking attitude and the biggest thing that pleases me is that they both really want to be part of what we have here.

"It should give us all a massive boost."

The other side of the coin is that new arrivals have forced Smith to balance the books at Keys Park.

And that spells the end for two members of his current squad.

As well as Monteiro, defender Chris Shaw and striker Mark Danks have been released.

Danks is already the subject of an offer from Hednesford's league rivals Stafford Rangers.

Smith said: "Both lads have been awesome characters for us and I have a heavy heart in letting them go."

"They are both fantastic lads and they will be missed."

"But, unfortunately, their chances have become limited recently and we have to adhere to a budget," said Smith.

"I sincerely wish both lads all the best in the future."

"Someone is going to get two very good players," he added.
